

Printmaking Minor

The Printmaking minor offers students the opportunity to further explore their practice in methods of printmaking and to study its impact in history, culture and contemporary art. A balance of traditional and contemporary studio techniques will be covered to engage students' critical thinking and creative processes. This minor also examines artists and communities working with the multiple in areas of book arts, installation, and communication while exploring the root of printmaking as related to current print and digital methods through research and individual projects.

Eligibility

The Printmaking minor is open to students majoring in Communication Arts, Digital Media, Environmental Design, Fine Arts, Product Design and Toy Design. Because of their major curricular requirements Fashion Design majors will only be approved to enroll on a case-by-case basis. Students must be on track in their major and in good academic standing, with no more than 6 credits behind and a cumulative GPA of 2.0.

Required Courses

PRNT263	Printmaking Survey	3.0	(any semester)
PRNT273	Printmaking: Integrated Media	3.0	(any semester)
PRNT373	Print Media Workshop	3.0	(spring only)
PRNT356	Experimental Printmaking	2.0	(fall only)
	Printmaking electives*	4.0	(any semester)

Total Credits

15.0

*Electives can be courses in Printmaking, Bookmaking, Letterpress, Illustration, Drawing or Painting offered by either the Communication Arts or Fine Arts Department.
See Communication Arts and Fine Arts Departments for Course Descriptions.*

Each enrolled student will receive an individual Academic Plan that outlines how this minor fits into their major.
